Four-Laning of Main Street Is Approved

Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss today announced that a construction project on Main Street in Murray (KY 94) has been approved.

The project will begin at the intersection of Main and 16th Street and extend east to the intersection of Main and 6th Street, a distance of 1.10 miles.

The project is expected to be completed in November, 1973, at a cost of approximately $1,349,500.

The four-laning of Main Street, was promised to the citizens of Murray by both Republican candidate Louie Nunn and the Democrat candidate Henry Ward prior to the last election. With the election of Nunn as governor a hearing was set up here in Murray on the four-laning to hear citizens express themselves on the project. At this hearing no opposition was expressed.

Firemen Are Back At Work At Stations

Fire Chief Flavil Robertson said this morning that all firemen reported to their shift duty on Wednesday afternoon after Mayor Holmes Ellis agreed to meet with the firemen and an international representative of their union.

All firemen had reported Wednesday morning that they were "sick" and Fire Chief Robertson was the only fireman on duty that morning.

He and a volunteer, Bill Jones, answered a false alarm to 605 North 18th Street at 8:28 on Wednesday morning.

The No. 2 Fire Station on South 18th Street had been closed on Tuesday when all but three of the firemen reported they were "sick".

Chief Robertson said the issue was resolved and the firemen were back on their regular shift before the members of the Murray Sanitation Department were called in to assist the Chief.

Seen & Heard Around Murray

This is the day after Christmas and the inclination is to sort of let down, but the desire to continue eating is greater, so folks traipse back to work.

Christmas is a great day for the gathering of the clan. This repeats itself year after year with one set of folks getting older and new ones making their appearance. There always seems to be at least one babe in arms, two or three more in the crawling stage, two or three more can walk around, and several others of various sizes on up to the young adults.

Very seldom have we seen it snow on Christmas eve, but snow it did and we woke Christmas morning to six inches of snow on the ground. The Loblolly Pines were bent over to the ground under their burden, but as the day progressed yesterday, they gradually regained their upright position.

Lucky, the outside dog had a ball running through the snow with his nose near the ground. As he ran, he bulldozed the snow with his nose much to his delight. She frolicked and jumped with gay abandon.

With Lady the inside dog, it was a different story. She walked along slowly all hunkered over, lifting one foot carefully, shaking snow off of it before setting it down once more.

The highway crews did a good job clearing the roads. Had to break a trail down to the Well Road, but from there on it was clear sailing.

Thanks to the Sanitation System employees for standing by at the city fire station.

We got a hat and top coat for Christmas. We have never worn a hat or top coat, but it appears that we will be wearing a hat and a top coat or our name is mud.

We were going to make a string of peanuts for the birds, but we never could get the large thread in the eye of the needle, so we compromised by just putting out a big pan of peanuts for them.

Father Of Local Woman Dies, Kansas

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Eversmeyer and family of 820 North 19th have returned from Ottawa, Kansas, where they attended the funeral of her father, Mr. Glen Stinson, who died on December 13 at his home in Ottawa.

Other survivors besides Mrs. Eversmeyer are a son, Bennie Stinson of Ottawa and a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Bonewitz of Manhattan, Kansas.

After the election and installation of officers, work will be in the entered apprentice degree. All members are urged to be present.

Tobacco Market To Open January 19th.

The dark fired tobacco market will open in Murray and Mayfield on January 19 according to Holmes Ellis, General Manager of the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association.

Sales are scheduled to be held daily.

Ellis said that he expects over eight million pounds of tobacco to be placed on sale in the district.

Murray has the largest dark fired tobacco market in the district.

Ellis reported that the market is expected to be very active this year. The Association is in short supply of old stocks of tobacco, thus creating a very favorable climate, Ellis continued.

Two Car Collision Occurs Yesterday At Main & 12th

A two car collision occurred Wednesday at 4:25 p. m. at Main and 12th Streets, according to the report filed by the investigating officers of the Murray Police Department.

Cars involved were a 1966 Pontiac four door driven by Norma Jean Warren of Paducah, and a 1965 Oldsmobile four door sedan driven by Hugh Mason Waldrop of 1701 West Olive Street, Murray.

Police said the Warren car, going east on Main Street had stopped at 12th Street waiting for the red light to change for her to go. Waldrop, also going east on Main, told police he did not see the Warren car stopped in time for him to stop before hitting the car in the rear end, according to the police report.

Waldrop received an injury to the mouth, the police report said.

Damage to the Warren car was on the rear end and to the Waldrop car on the front end.

Funeral Is Today For Mr. Daniels

The funeral for Frank P. Daniels of 922 Brookhaven, Frankfort, was held today at two p.m. at the chapel of the Max H. Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. Jack Jones officiating.

Burial will be in the Murray Cemetery at a later date. The body was placed in the receiving vault for the present time.

Mr. Daniels, age 76, died Wednesday at the Capitol Manor Rest Home, Frankfort. He was born January 14, 1893 in Illinois and his parents Jerome B. and Moriah Reed Daniels. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Thorn Hill Baptist Church, Frankfort.

SEARCH FOR TOY LENNING TO CONTINUE IN MOUNTAIN AREA

This is a Piper Twin Comanche C airplane which is the same model as the airplane Toy Lenning was piloting when he was reported missing in the Cumberland Mountains near Crossville, Tenn., on Tuesday afternoon.

Rescue Crews Are Hampered By Heavy Snow

Search crews were hoping for a break in the weather today to permit them to launch a full scale hunt for Toy Lenning, Murray flying service owner, who has been missing since Tuesday afternoon.

Lenning, flying a twin-engine, Piper Comanche, apparently crashed about 15 miles from Crossville, Tennessee, Tuesday while en route to pick up passengers who were to be flown to London, Kentucky.

The Ledger & Times spoke with the Cumberland County Sheriff's Office in Crossville this morning and he said that there had been no new developments in the search and that search crews were greatly hampered by a six inch crust of snow which blanketed the area on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The snow forced searchers to cancel their hunt for Lenning and his plane Thursday.

The Crossville Airport control tower said the pilot radioed the tower about 1 p.m. Tuesday in overcast weather and had received permission to descend from 6,000 to 4,000 feet when communications were lost.

The plane had been cleared for an instrument landing and Lenning gave no indication of trouble, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

The search area is located about 15 miles south-southeast of Crossville off U.S. 127. Civil Air Patrol units were to work with sheriff's deputies and rescue squad personnel in the search.

Murray Hi-Y Club Plans Tree Pick-up

The Hi-Y Club of Murray High School is sponsoring a Christmas tree pick-up on Tuesday, December 30.

A charge of fifty cents per tree will be made. The hours are from nine a. m. to dark. For appointment call 753-4365 this week or 753-4395 on Tuesday.

TWO CITED

Two persons were cited by the Murray Police Department over the Christmas holiday. They were both cited for driving while intoxicated.

Winners Are Announced In Holiday Lighting Program

The Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club has announced winners in its Christmas lighting program.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones at 361 North 16th Street were first place winners in the house and grounds division.

Second place in this category went to Mr. and Mrs. James Cochran, 732 Fairlane. Honorable mention went to Col. and Mrs. E. F. Birdsong, 812 North 20th Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Parker, 1321 Main Street.

Sue and Martha Hughes, 1636 Farmer Avenue, won first place in the porch division.

Mr. and Mrs. Brent Outland, 1607 Keeneland Drive were first place winners in the door category. Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ellis, 1110 Fairlane, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Lilly, South 16th and Sycamore, and Mr. and Mrs. David Lanier, 1510 Glendale Road.

In the lawn division Mr. and Mrs. James Rice, 822 North 10th Street, won first place. Second place went to Jim Bryan, 804 Minerva Place.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Waldrop, 707 Main Street, won first place in the tree category.

Judging was done by an unannounced committee. Officials of the department said there were many beautifully decorated homes, but only the ones registered to be judged could be considered.

Balance, simplicity and good taste prevailed in the themes and style used, the committee said. All the homes showed that effort had been made to enter the spirit of beauty and good will by using appropriate decorations. Blue and red ribbons were awarded to the winners.

Sesqui Edition Of "Jackson Purchase" To Have 124 Pages

The "Story of Jackson Purchase" will be published in one of the largest anniversary editions ever compiled in West Kentucky.

Dr. L. J. Horton, president of the Jackson Purchase Historical Society, said the 124-page edition of the Mayfield Messenger will be "unveiled" at a dinner meeting of the Society at Holiday Inn in Mayfield Tuesday evening, December 30, at 7 p.m.

Ray Edwards, publisher of the Messenger, said copies would be made available in bound and unbound editions at the Mayfield Messenger office and at various newspaper offices in the Purchase area.

The "editor" of this sesquicentennial edition has been Lon Carter Barton, Mayfield business man. He has been assisted by contributors, special writers and an editorial "board".

The December 30 meeting of the Jackson Purchase Historical Society will officially close the year-long observance of the 150th anniversary of the signing and proclaiming of the Jackson Purchase treaty.

This treaty was officially proclaimed on January 7, 1819, by President James Monroe. On October 19, 1818, the Chickasaw chiefs, Governor Isaac Shelby and General Andrew Jackson signed the treaty. The Chickasaws received $300,000 plus separate claims for all of the land west of the Tennessee River in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Marihuana Research

One point often overlooked in the raging controversies over mind-affecting drugs and their abuse and misuse is the need for research to know for sure what these compounds are and what they do.

Nothing better illustrates this than the case of marihuana.

We have far from enough research evidence to enable sound judgments of its effects, particularly over a long term.

The lack of a uniform compound or standardized product has been a primary reason for our relative lack of real knowledge about the long-term physical and psychological effects of marihuana use.

Marihuana heretofore used in research has come largely from materials confiscated by the government. Because methods of harvesting and storage, climatic conditions during growth, and the place of origin chiefly determine the potency of the natural product, the seized material is usually of uncertain quality and potency. Thus, researchers have had to work with uncertain, highly variable materials.

This is why the National Institute of Mental Health has gone to the very beginning to produce uniform synthetic and natural marihuana compounds for research study.

Contracts have been awarded to make purified extracts suitable for research; to develop methods of artificially producing tetrahydrocannabinol (THC)—the substance believed to be the active compound of marihuana; to find methods of analyzing and more precisely identifying the chemicals in marihuana that are active during use; and to produce sufficient quantities of THC for research needs.

Research organizations in North Carolina, Massachusetts and Mississippi, among others, are producing synthetic and natural marihuana for research.

The road to full knowledge of marihuana which we still have to travel is a long one, but we are beginning to march down it.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—A technical rally is overdue in view of a deeply oversold condition and some rebound is possible once tax selling slows, according to Standard & Poor's. The firm adds, however, that a change in perspectives will be needed to steer the market back to an upward course of real duration.

It is possible that millions of scared stockholders are hoping for a year-end rally on which to sell, and any uptrend that develops should be watched closely, particularly in early January, Spear & Staff Inc. warns.

Proposed changes in the tax laws are encouraging some investors to take tax losses in 1969 and profits after phase-out of the surcharge, Shearson, Hammill & Co. Inc., notes. The firm also said investor psychology toward the Vietnam War appears to be neutralized and relegated to a second hand position, at least for the time being.

Hayden, Stone Inc. warns against chasing stocks during rallies that lack any especially bullish incentive and are not preceded by necessary price consolidation or base building. There is nothing to indicate that a final bottom has been reached and, in fact, up until just recently the market was still probing for even a trading bottom, the firm says.

Navy Pilot Has Been Prisoner Of Reds Since August, 1964

By CLIFFORD P. CHENEY

LAFAYETTE, Calif. (UPI)—Tangee Alvarez is a beautiful young woman whose husband, Navy Lt. Everett Alvarez Jr., holds a bitter distinction. He has been a prisoner of war longer than any other American in any war the United States has fought.

Alvarez, a Navy pilot, was shot down Aug. 5, 1964, during one of the first air strikes ordered by President Johnson in retaliation against alleged North Vietnamese attacks on U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin.

First Pilot Captured
He was the first American pilot captured by North Vietnam, and he spent his sixth Christmas in captivity this year.

Mrs. Alvarez, 29, sent him the usual Christmas package—a small 6-pound parcel which is all his captors will allow. She has become accustomed to waiting for the infrequent letters her 31-year-old husband's captors permit. The last, only six lines long, was delivered in July.

"You have to adjust yourself to the reality," said Mrs. Alvarez, who saw her husband only two months between their marriage and his deployment to the Far East. "At least I know he is alive, and where there's life there's hope."

She wonders why the North Vietnamese, who have released several U.S. prisoners in recent months, do not release her husband.

Has Received 30 Letters
"Five years," she said, looking toward a photograph of a young naval officer receiving his wings. "Five years—how much can a man take?"

Mrs. Alvarez said she has received 30 letters from her husband, but in the last three years each of these has been only six lines, apparently the maximum allowed.

The family, in turn, writes Lt. Alvarez a two-page letter once a month, a practice based on their understanding that this is all he will be allowed to receive.

From time to time they have been able to see bits of North Vietnamese propaganda films on television, showing Alvarez and other American prisoners. He is much thinner now, Mrs. Alvarez said, but his letters all contain assurances he is in good health.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Unreported Accident

Coming to a halt at a stop light, you bump bumpers with the car ahead. A quick look by both parties indicates that no harm was done, so you dismiss the matter from your mind.

Months later, you are served with a summons in a lawsuit. It seems the other driver is claiming that he was injured by the collision after all. This question arises:

Are you left stranded, without the protection of your liability insurance, because you failed to give prompt notice of the accident to the insurance company?

Generally speaking, you are required to give notice within a "reasonable time" after you have an accident. Still, the law does grant you some leeway if there is a good excuse for delay.

Obviously, you have a good excuse if you simply were not aware that an accident happened at all. Likewise, in the case above, the court decided the motorist's excuse was good enough. As one judge put it:

"Not every trivial accident should be reported. An accident that an ordinarily prudent person would consider as inconsequential, not the basis of any claim, the insured was not bound to report."

Nevertheless, if there is reason to fear a claim (even an unfair claim), then it is indeed up to you to tell your insurance company about it.

For example, a motorist who knocked down a pedestrian was held not justified in failing to report the accident, since he knew the victim had been taken to a hospital. His excuse, that a policeman had told him it was "nothing serious," was held not good enough.

And another motorist was held at fault for not notifying his insurance company that the other party, in a seemingly harmless collision, had telephoned to say his knee was "starting to feel stiff."

In short, when in doubt report the accident. It isn't a difficult thing to do. And it might save you, some day, from having to "face the music" on your own.

Today is Friday Dec. 26, the 360th day of 1969 with five more to follow.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1776, George Washington's army captured 1,000 Hessians who were fighting for the British at the Battle of Trenton, N.J.

In 1865, James Nason of Franklin, Mass. was awarded a patent for his invention of a coffee percolator.

In 1917, the federal government took over operation of the nation's railroads for the duration of World War I.

In 1941, Winston Churchill was given a rare honor and became the first British prime minister to address a joint meeting of Congress.

In 1947, the Northeast was buried under almost 26 inches of snow. New York City had the heaviest accumulation since the blizzard of 1888.

A thought for the day: George Eliot said: "Blessed is the man who, with nothing to say, abstains from giving in words evidence of the fact."

Kapp And Gabriel Are Teammates On NFL's West Team

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Joe Kapp of the Minnesota Vikings and Roman Gabriel of the Los Angeles Rams, rival quarterbacks in Saturday's NFL Western Conference championship game, will be teammates on the West team in the Pro Bowl.

The 34-man team picked by NFL coaches was announced today by directors of the 20th annual Pro Bowl Game to be played Jan. 18 at the Coliseum. The Vikings landed eight players on the West team while the Rams will have seven representatives.

The selections included Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, the league's leading rusher. Sayers missed last year's game because of a knee injury requiring surgery.

For Kapp, 33, it will be his first appearance in the Pro Bowl while Gabriel will be making his third straight visit. Last year he alternated with Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts at quarterback when the West scored a 10-7 win to take a 12-17 edge in the series.

Linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Rams was chosen for his ninth PXRO Bowl appearance to make him the veteran member of the West team. Only John Unitts, Leo Nomellini and Gino Marchetti have more appearances with ten.

Other veterans include Merlin Olsen of the Rams making his eighth straight appearance; defensive back Willie Wood of Green Bay picked for the seventh time and John Mackey of Baltimore and Mick Tingelhoff of Minnesota making six appearances.

The offensive players selected: Gene Washington, Minnesota; Carroll Dale, Green Bay and Gene Washington, San Francisco, wide receivers; Charlie Cowan and Bob Brown, Los Angeles, and Grady Alderman, Minnesota, tackles; Tom Mack, Los Angeles, Gale Gillingham, Green Bay and Elmer Collett, San Francisco, guards; Mick Tingelhoff, Minnesota and Ed Flanagan, Detroit, centers; Charlie Sanders, Detroit, tight end; Gabriel and Kapp, quarterbacks; Sayers, Tom Matte, Baltimore, Jim Butler, Atlanta and Ken Willard, San Francisco, running backs.

The defensive players selected:

Carl Eller, Minnesota, David Jones, Los Angeles and Jim Marshall, Minnesota, ends; Olsen, Fred Miller, Baltimore, Alan Page, Minnesota, tackles; Dave Robinson, Green Bay, Dick Butkus, Chicago, Dave Wilcox, San Francisco and Baughan, linebackers; Lem Barney, Detroit, Bob Jeter, Green Bay and Jim Johnson, San Francisco, cornerbacks; Rick Volk, Baltimore, Paul Krause, Minnesota and Wood, safeties.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sleepy Jim Crowley, one of the original Four Horsemen and a member of the only other Notre Dame team ever to play in a bowl game, says, ah, those were the days my friend but don't despair, this New Year's Day is going to turn out the same way.

He means Notre Dame will win again. Sleepy Jim is trying to make it two-for-two. He picked the right winner the last time the Irish went to a bowl 45 years ago and remembers the game as if it were yesterday.

"It was New Year's Day of 1925 and we played Leland Stanford," Crowley says. "We defeated them, 27-10, in the Rose Bowl, and what I remember most about the game was Ernie Nevers. He was their fullback, and he was a great one."

Dwells on Cotton Bowl Crowley glosses over his own performance in that game. He ran and passed well in addition to kicking three points after touchdowns to swell more on Notre Dame's meeting with Texas in the Cotton Bowl next week.

"I was very happy they decided to go to a bowl again after all those years," he says about the Irish, "particularly since they'll be playing the No. 1 team in the country. Everybody likes to beat No. 1, you know."

And he believes his alma mater can? Does a moose walk barefoot in the woods?

"Definitely," says Sleepy Jim Crowley, still a Notre Dame man all the way at 67. "I believe they'll beat Texas."

Crowley and his three backfield colleagues at Notre Dame—Harry Stuhldreher, Elmer Layden and Don Miller—were immortalized by the late Grantland Rice when he referred to them as "The Four Horsemen" for the first time in 1924.

The Name Sticks "He used the phrase in his lead when he wrote his story about our game with Army," Crowley says. "Then when we got back to South Bend, an enterprising newspaperman got all four of us to pose on top of horses and the name stuck. Do I like the name? Very much. It opened a lot of doors for all four of us."

Anybody familiar with Jim Crowley knows he is anything but sleepy.

He was a wide-awake head coach at Fordham University nine years and at Michigan State four years before that, i.e. put in four more years as backfield coach at Georgia, and there's still nothing sleepy about him now as industrial commissioner for Lackawanna County in Pennsylvania.

COACHES NAMED

HOUSTON (UPI)—George Wilson of the Miami Dolphins and Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos were named Tuesday to coach the East and West teams in the American Football League's All-Star Game in the Astrodome on Jan. 17.

Each of the coaches will name 10 players to the 22-man squads already selected by the league's coaches.

NOVEMBER WINNER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Willis Reed, captain and star center of the New York Knicks, was named monthly winner for November, Tuesday in the S. Rae Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" voting.

Reed, Phil Esposito and Tom Seaver have been voted monthly winners twice each. Other monthly winners were Jerry West, Mario Andretti, Reggie Jackson, Zille Davis and Donn Clendenon. The year's winner will be announced on Feb. 12.

By JACK WOLISTON
NEW YORK (UPI) — More power and engineering refinements distinguish the 1970 products of the nation's major outboard motor manufacturers.

Mercury and Chrysler have gone to more power, Mercury coming up with a 135 horsepower model and Chrysler offering a 120 horsepower engine. Previously their top power models were 125 and 105, respectively.

Chrysler continues to offer a limited-production 135 horsepower racing engine. Johnson and Evinrude retained their top power models of 1969, rated at 115, but made a number of engineering changes. They also are continuing to offer the 85 horsepower introduced with the 115 in 1969.

Added to the Johnson-Evinrude line for 1970 is a new 60 horsepower engine.

Mercury describes its new 135 as the world's most powerful production outboard, developing more horsepower per cubic inch than any mass production outboard engine ever built. Mercury engineers report that the company's Direct Charging electrical system permits a power head design on the 135 no larger than that of last year's top-powered 125.

Chrysler's new four-cylinder 120 is equipped with Magna-power, the company's capacitor-discharge ignition system, and features molybdenum-filled piston rings which are said to reduce cylinder wall friction to a minimum. An improved version of the four-cylinder 105 continues in the line, along with the company's three-cylinder 85 and 70 horsepower models.

Johnson engineers describe the new 60 horsepower model as a modified version of last year's 55. It is said to include a number of engineering refinements that not only have advanced the horsepower with the same bore, stroke and piston displacement but also have made the engine quieter and reduced carbon buildup.

Along with the 115, both Johnson and Evinrude are continuing their 85s in the top power field. As Robert N. West Jr., director of sales for Evinrude, puts it: "Our major concern has been to build improvements into our existing line for greater performance, ease of operation and safety."

A few years ago the Tulane University sailing team was pretty much in the same class as baseball's New York Mets of a half dozen years ago. In the 1966 and 1967 Douglas Cup Intercollegiate Match Race series at Long Beach, Calif., the Tulane team failed to win a race. They weren't even asked to attend the invitational affair in 1968. But this year, the Green Wave sailors came back to take the cup by winning seven straight races.

All eight competitors in the recent series sailed identical Columbia 26 Mark II sloops. Stevens Institute and the University of Southern California tied for second, each winning five and losing 2.

TRACK MEET SCHEDULED

NEW YORK (UPI)—The second U.S. Olympic invitation indoor track meet will be held Feb. 20 in Madison Square Garden. There will be six running events for men, three running events for women and three field events for women.

SEC Bowl Future Not Bright

By DAVID MOFFITT
UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Southeastern Conference's poor bowl showing supports charges that the league, ever-hungry for the cash and national exposure offered by post-season games, has spread itself too thin.

Most SEC officials don't want to publicly admit it, but it's a fact, plain and simple, that Alabama and Georgia shouldn't have been invited to bowl this year.

Alabama 47-33 loser to Colorado in the Liberty Bowl climaxed its worst season 6-4 in more than a decade with a humiliating 49-26 loss to Auburn and Georgia 45-6 loser to Nebraska in the Sun Bowl didn't win any of its four November games.

Coaches Bear Bryant of Alabama and Vince Dooley of Georgia made no pretense that their bowl trips were awards, as bowl games usually are. Both viewed their post-season games as a last-ditch chance to made amends and wound up making matters worse.

The SEC's bowl record over the past three years is now 4-10 and the immediate future isn't bright.

Auburn has to be considered the underdog going against Houston, the Nation's No. 2 offensive team, on the Cougars' home field in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl and Ole Miss takes on the third-ranking team in the nation, Arkansas, in the Sugar Bowl.

The SEC's only good bet for a post-season victory is in Saturday's Gator Bowl game where league - champion Tennessee plays another league member, Florida. And, as some wages have been pointing out of late, the way the SEC's bowl luck has been running, that game could very well wind up as a tie. SEC Commissioner A. M. "Tonto" Coleman, emphasizing that he doesn't want to appear to be either making excuses for, or criticizing any of the teams in his conference, doesn't feel that recent bowl results are a fair appraisal of the strengths of various conferences.

"I believe the SEC would hold its own if our No. 1 team played the No. 1 team from another conference, our No. 2 team played another's No. 2 team, etc.," Coleman said.

"While our recent bowl showings don't indicate it, I feel the SEC, over-all, is stronger than ever. Our strength, however, lies in our balance, in the fact that no one team dominates the conference anymore. "I'm convinced that we are as strong as any conference in the nation if you were to make a place-by-place comparison," the SEC commissioner continued.

"I don't want to appear critical of any of our teams, but I believe Louisiana State would have made a strong showing against Colorado or Nebraska."

It is an irony of this year's bowl slate that LSU, seventh-ranked nationally with a 9-1 record and second in the SEC, stayed home. The Bengals turned down several lesser bowl offers after Notre Dame grabbed their anticipated Cotton Bowl berth.

LSU, which won its last four bowl appearances, is the only SEC team in recent years which has helped league prestige. Alabama and Georgia have both lost three straight bowl games. Tennessee lost its last two, and Auburn and Ole Miss have each won only one of their last three.

But, win or lose, the SEC and its member schools will rake in close to $1 million in bowl gold this winter they get both ends of the Gator Bowl's team purse.

"It's not a matter of money," Coleman insists. Perhaps. But the way things have been going, that may be all they have to show for it.

Dear Abby

Is hubby's heart trouble a hoax?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After being married to Lester for eight years, he developed a heart condition. He was able to work at his job, but he did less and less around the house, until now he just won't do a thing. I do all the yard work, painting, and everything there is to do when you own a home.

A friend came by the other day and saw me shoveling snow. He asked me why I was breaking my back that way and I said, "Well you know Lester can't do this on account of he has a heart condition." All he said was, "Why don't you wise up?" Then he drove off.

Now this has started me to thinking. Lester can go fishing and hunting and do all the things he likes to do. He even drives 500 miles to visit his folks. He says it "relaxes" him to drive. I would ask his doctor, but he and Lester are friends. So could you please find out if driving 500 miles is "relaxing?" It tires me out. Thank you.

ANXIOUS TO HEAR

DEAR ANXIOUS: It tires most people out. But I think what you really want to know is whether your husband has been putting one over on you. His doctor is the one who can tell you what a man in Lester's condition can and cannot safely do. I suggest you ask him. And don't assume that because he and Lester are "friends," they are in cahoots. Most doctors are on the up and up.

DEAR ABBY: Linguistics is a science—not a guessing game. If you want the etymology of the word "COP," here it is:

Without going back beyond Latin, the modern word is derived from "CAPARE," meaning "to seize or take captive."

There was an Old English word COPSE meaning "fetter" and this word also became "COPS." [CUFF and possibly HANDCUFF are derived from this root.]

The "constable on patrol" type of explanation is what is called "folk etymology," which means that it is often clever, sometimes convincing, but utterly without factual foundation. "COP" is a legitimate word for policeman, and not an acronym. Very truly yours,

FREDERICK MONTERER, Ph.D.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's parents have recently retired and moved to our town in order to be near their only child—my husband. They are fairly well off now, and have helped us out financially in the past.

The problem is that we have a new baby, just 3 months old, and every night the grandparents come over here and pass the baby around between each other until he is so fretful that he cries for hours after they leave.

I have asked my husband to drop a hint in their direction to leave the little guy alone, but my husband says, "They aren't hurting the baby. I think you're just looking for some reason to hurt my parents' feelings." Then he accuses me of being ungrateful for all his folks have done for us. That's not true. I AM grateful, but not enough to jeopardize my baby's health.

I am desperate enough to pack up my baby, and leave my husband to his parents. I have wonderful parents of my own living in another state who would be glad to have me. Please help me.

NEW MOMMY

DEAR NEW: Be fair. Do you really fear that the health of your baby will be jeopardized because your in-laws "handle" him so much? I suspect that other things are bugging you. Don't pack up and go anywhere. Try to understand the real reasons for your irritation. I think you probably need someone to talk to. How about your clergyman?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST CURIOUS" IN KILGORE, TEX.: I never "doctor" up the letters to make them more "interesting." But I sometimes must edit them up a bit to make them printable.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Patios Give Apartments Airy Appeal

Many factors have given birth to the rising apartment population: convenience, a growing number of empty-nesters and childless young-marrieds, increasing land and construction costs, and a desire to shuck home maintenance chores. But, despite these reasons, some people resisted apartment living because it typified certain "urban" disadvantages.

Now, however, new trends in multi-family construction are winning over many of the undecided. What's swinging the vote are attractive garden and townhouse apartments which combine the best apartment conveniences with single-family home features, open spaces and suburban greenery.

One example of the trend is the extensive use of patios, decks and balconies—to introduce an aura of country living and give tenants a private "piece" of the outdoors. To take full advantage of exterior extensions, most apartment features sliding glass patio doors. These open apartment interiors to sunlight and air, afford appealing views (which most urban dwellings lack), and provide easy access to the outdoors.

Sliding patio doors of ponderosa pine are popular choices for apartments. Because they come in stock sizes and are obtainable with tempered insulating glass, they are economically feasible for builders to use. Insulating glass in weatherstripped wood sash is considered maximum protection against heat loss and condensation. This means more comfort and convenience for tenants; less maintenance and lower heating and air conditioning bills for owners. Bonus attraction of the wood sash is that it can be painted different colors inside and out to match interior and exterior decor. Tempered glass provides an extra measure of safety—an area of prime concern to tenants and owners alike.

The modern apartment emphasis on country living can also be seen in the on-site recreational facilities provided by many multi-family communities. These range from swimming pools and tennis courts to riding trails and golf courses.

High style casement windows of ponderosa pine heighten the contemporary design of this apartment. The windows offer other tenant attractions—good visibility and ventilation, easy cleaning and operation.

Woman fills UN's top job

By PHYLLIS BERNSTEIN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The woman who presides over the 24th session of the United Nations General Assembly sees the world body as "man's only hope, I think."

The words are those of Angie Brooks, the first African woman to serve as UN General Assembly president. She truly feels this way about the UN, even though she told its delegates when she became president that they had a tendency to view world affairs somewhat parochially, as if they were being played out at New York headquarters.

"Perhaps we haven't done the best but I think the United Nations has done a good job," she said in an interview, "and now we must combine our efforts to achieve the goals we set out for."

Miss Brooks was reluctant to talk of many issues before the UN, of whether Red China should be admitted to the UN, and the like. She explained that hers was an overall role as president, not one of expressing personal views.

The president reflected, as she sat in her spacious office overlooking the East River, on the 1940's when she first came

Christmas Greetings For This Year Are Of Many Different Kinds, Says Writer

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Say it with a bag of confetti, say it with fir tree seeds, or say it the mod way — "let's wax pax."

But say it: Merry Christmas. Unusual Yule cards coming across my desk really included the bag of confetti. "Rejoice" was printed on the bag.

The fir tree seeds were in a card to an office mate and from a New York conservationist. If each of us each year planted fir tree seeds, our great-great-grandchildren won't need to worry about running out of Christmas trees several generations hence.

The "wax pax" card from an advertising agency hit the peace theme, dominant in this year's batch of greetings. Pax is Latin for peace.

Uses Cards To Be Heard. One observer, commenting on the increase of cards with peace themes, said: "The silent majority apparently is using this means to make itself heard on the war in Vietnam — without getting into the peace-rank and file."

Some cards made me feel sorry for the senders. Sample: "It's a rat race but have a good one in 1970, anyway."

Cards striking closest to the meaning of Christmas said a donation has been made in my name to aid the needy.

Two young women who make their living in the food business sent this menu for a happy holiday: "Mellowed joy, spiced cheer, warm friendships, ... sparkling good spirits."

Handmade Cards Show. More handmade cards showed in this year's collection. A dear lady from West Virginia sent a fellow worker a snow-covered scene showing "Christmas in West Virginia." She took the picture herself.

You've got to be in New York to see the prettiest Christmas card of all — too big to go through the mail. It's found in Harlem.

It's made of thousands of strings of lights blinking Christmas greetings from the windows of high-rise, low-income apartments stretching as far as the eye can see.

At dusk, the scene is as striking as the 70-foot tree in Rockefeller Center.

Sound-Control Quiets Complaints About Noise

Age of tenants makes a difference in apartment preferences.

According to Apartment Construction News, the wide range of recreational amenities being offered in many multi-family communities has definite appeal to singles, young-marrieds and couples with children.

But, the publication notes that older tenants are much more concerned with "essentials," such as sound control. Large room sizes and easy maintenance.

Sensitivity to sound can be particularly noted among "empty nesters," probably because they are "new" apartment dwellers, and, having had homes of their own, are not used to noises that generally accompany life in a multi-family unit. All tenants, however, are likely to raise loud complaints about noisy buildings. And an increasing number of apartment owners are sound controlling their buildings, to avoid these problems.

Many apartment owners have taken steps to reduce excessive noise, whether it is caused by transmission (noises coming into the apartment through windows and walls) or reverberation (noise that bounces off walls and ceilings inside a room).

Wall materials can make a substantial difference. Hardboards, for example, have proven sound-deadening qualities. Tests show that hardboard wall paneling installed over a drywall or plaster partition, or on both sides of an insulated cavity wall, makes an excellent deadener of sound transmission. This advantage, plus the decorative and low-maintenance qualities of prefinished hardboard, makes it a practical choice for individual apartment units and for public rooms and hallways.

An increasing number of apartments either provide carpeting or specify that tenants must install it. Carpets cushion sound, while bare floors transmit noises to the apartment below.

Award Winning 4-H Work Influences Career Choice

Becky Russell, 16, and Tommy Joe Davis, 15, both of Stanford, will represent Lincoln County in Kentucky's youthful delegation to the 48th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 30-Dec. 4.

The post-Thanksgiving convention of 1,650 state winners from all parts of the nation will provide a round seven years as a 4-H'er. "I learned to buy wisely for myself and home," she says. "I have become conscious of comparisons of different types of merchandise, including service and maintenance and proper care and cost. It has helped to stretch our family budget farther."

Davis, a high school junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Davis Jr. He plans to become a veterinarian. His trip-winning program was in the equine field. The horse program sponsor is Merck & Co., Inc.

Davis' program started six years ago with one pony. Now he has six Tennessee Walking ponies and two horses.

He says he learned quickly that you can't win 'em all in the show ring. "One must be a good loser as well as a winner."

"Learn by doing. This is what I have tried to do in completing 36 projects in agriculture and home economics," he says. "They have helped me in many ways to develop leadership, sportsmanship and to work toward effective citizenship."

The program records of all 4-H contestants are judged by the Cooperative Extension Service. Both Miss Russell and Davis are in the running for possible national honors and $600 scholarship.

this NEW YEAR

We speak blithely of The New Year,
as though there were some magic in the month of January. We talk as if bad things will, of themselves, become good things, with no effort on our part except to rearrange the calendar.

We have proof in II Corinthians that old things really pass away and all things become new. And what a boon that is only for the turning of a new leaf. How sweet it is that we can begin again. For some of the old would be a pill much too bitter to swallow.

But underneath all this, all of us know, the newness must be within us. We must think new thoughts. We must become new persons.

We must cultivate new attitudes and even develop a new heart. If we love, it must be stronger this year. If we create, it's got to be better.

We can't have a New Year unless we make it a new one. Let us make Christ our pattern, our ideal.

This new 1970 would be a grand and beautiful New Year if we could make it a Church-Going-Year.

Happy New Year, Everybody!

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of expressing our thanks and appreciation to all who had a part in easing to some extent the burden of sorrow in our loss of our beloved husband, father, grandfather, Charles A. Bucay whose spirit was on December 13, 1969 quietly and peacefully waited back to Him who gave it.

Our thanks to Dr. H. C. Chiles and Reverend Lloyd Wilson for the consoling words, to Messrs Rudolph Howard and Gus Robertson, Jr., and the ladies who sang the beautiful songs, the pianist, the donors of the beautiful flowers, neighbors and friends for the abundance of food contributed, Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home for their efficient service and courteous consideration.

To all again we say thank you.

Cochrum Is Named To Newspaper Post

Glenn Cochrum, a member of the Sun-Democrat news staff since March of 1967, has been named assistant executive editor of the newspaper.

His primary work will be in the processing of local news and making staff assignments.

Preston Kennedy is the executive editor.

Cochrum, a resident of 2100 S. 29th St., first was a general assignment reporter for the newspaper. Then, he was assigned to the McCracken County courthouse and, later, to the city hall.

Cochrum, 31, is a native of Calloway County and a 1956 graduate of Lynn Grove High School. He attended the Tennessee School of Broadcasting and worked as a radio newsman in McMinnville, Tenn., St. Joseph, Mo., and Paducah prior to joining the Sun-Democrat staff.

He is married to the former Lynda Roach of Paducah. They Cochrums have a son, Robbie, 5. Cochrum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bazile Cochrum, formerly of Lynn Grove, who now live in Lawrenceville, Ill.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

WASHINGTON — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, explaining his decision not to seek reelection in 1968:

"I was positive I could not get a peace conference, get them (the enemy) to a peace table... positive that I could not get a tax bill... positive I could not cool the cities as a candidate..."

NEW YORK — Mrs. Kenneth Fisher of Sebring, Fla., wife of a missing American believed to be a prisoner in North Vietnam, reports North Vietnamese reaction to a request for information about her husband:

"They told me to go home and tell my child her father is a murderer of North Vietnamese children."

NEW YORK — Willie "The Actor" Sutton, bank robber and escape artist, tells the New York Daily News about one of the first things that caught his eye on his first day of freedom after 17 years in prison:

"I love the girls' miniskirts, and am glad they lasted until I got out."

Bible Answers

Some say they can drink moderately without danger. Most alcoholics thought so too. They did not mean to become alcoholics.

Some say they only take one or two drinks, now and then. It is usually two and now, rather than then. If the first drink is never taken, one need not worry about the second.

A Christian is to be an example. A drinking Christian is a stumbling block rather than an example of good.

Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. Give no occasion of stumbling either to Jews or to Greeks, or to the church of God. (1 Cor. 10:31-32.)

"It is good not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak." (Rom. 14:21.) Would the "social drinking" Christian contend that he is drinking alcoholic beverages to the "glory of God?"

Is the Christian not under obligation to refrain from the use of alcoholic beverages lest he lead some weak person astray. The person who is really converted to Christ does not have a problem with alcohol. The attitude of the heart of a person who is really converted to Christ is to do all things that will bring glory to God and advance His cause in the world. No Christian can do that and be a "social drinker."

It is clear from 1 Timothy 3:3, that a wine drinker is not fit to be an elder in the Lord's church. And that would be equally true of beer, whiskey, gin, vodka, highballs, cocktails and all the rest. If this is a desirable characteristic for an elder, isn't it desirable for all Christians? If not, why not?

Peter, in admonishing not to continue in sin, writes, "...when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries." (1 Pet. 4:3.) Some say, "Oh, but 'excess of wine' refers to drunkenness and I don't get drunk when I drink." However, let us also consider the word "banquetings". This word in the Greek does not refer to a nice dinner. It means drinking; a drinking bout; drinking together. And this has reference to cocktail parties, toasts using alcohol, or getting together for a "few" beers.

A drinking disciple is a disgrace to the Cause he allegedly represents. One who frequents place where liquor is sold, one who keeps it on his premises, one who has it on his breath, might as well keep his mouth shut insofar as wielding any influence on the people of the world today. Even non-Christian drinkers recognize and frequently declare, that so-called Christians who drink are hypocrites, and disgrace to the Cause they allegedly represent.
